First Austin Restaurant Newsletter

Since accepting the role of Maître de Cuisine in January, I've started researching where to find information about Austin's burgeoning restaurant scene. In this first newsletter, I'm publishing an interesting article from my top 3 sites with links to the originating website.

An Eaters Guide to Austin

Austin eater is my goto site for information on Austin restaurants. They update the site at least daily and you can sign up for a daily email. This article gives a good overview, especially useful for out of town guests, of the Austin restaurant scene. They also provide monthly heat maps of the top 38 restaurants in Austin and heat maps of the top new restaurants each month. Check 'em out.

10 Best Austin Seafood Restaurants

Austin Culture map is another great site for Austin info restaurants and other happenings. This article talks about something not always easy to find in Austin—great seafood.

Restaurant Review: Mattie's

Austin Monthly publishes lots of interesting articles about restaurants. This is about the rebirth of Green Pastures into Mattie's.
